

CLICK CLEVER 2

Click Clever is an e-safety learning initiative developed in collaboration with KC and delivered by Spinoff Productions. Click Clever addresses key issues of cyber bullying and staying safe online.

It consists of:-

✓ Two original plays presented in a compelling and innovative way. After the performance, children are encouraged to discuss and replay the events, changing the choices that the characters have made.

✓ A specially developed teachers' resource pack and a DVD for use in follow up activities (only available to schools that take part).

The session begins with two Forum Theatre plays for all three year groups. Forum Theatre is an innovative form of theatre where, after the play is finished, the audience have the opportunity to rewind the action, stop it and take the place of the main character. In doing so they are able to revisit some of the bad choices made and try out new strategies for overcoming problems.

In "It's Only a game!" Alfie loves playing games but he doesn't always know who he's playing with and he foolishly gives away information that puts him at risk. What should he have done to stay safe?

In "A Joke Too Far" Emma becomes the victim of internet trolls when she doesn't think about the stuff she shares online.

In both of our stories the audience have the opportunity at the end to replay the action and explore what the main characters should have done differently to stay safe. This is a highly effective and engaging learning tool and will have a lasting impact on the children.

Using a combination of drama and direct interactivity with the audience, the workshop demonstrates the effects of cyber bullying on children who have suffered from it. The project gives practical advice on how to avoid it and what to do if it occurs. The children are drawn into the action, providing advice and strategies for the actors to follow.

There is also an accompanying DVD and resource pack for use in the classroom. We have recently completed a successful tour of Primary Schools in Hull and the East Riding of Yorkshire.

This is what people have said about Click Clever:

The Yr6 teacher at Preston Primary School commented that:-

"The plays this morning were great – clearly getting the message across but in a really engaging way... Age appropriate which was great for children in KS2. The workshop effectively followed up the plays, focussing on clear messages. Activities involved all children. Presenters were friendly and kept children on task"

The tour has previously been sponsored by Kingston Communications who, on seeing the show said:-

"We think Click Clever is a brilliant production. The feedback from schools shows that it is clearly filling a real need that is out there. We'd love more schools to book you so that their pupils can see and learn from the production"

Others have commented:-

Excellent in the way they engaged the children by rewinding the action and asking individuals to take part. Head teacher

Really effective way of presenting the message of e-safety. Year 4 Teacher

Very impressive. Rapport with children was particularly good. Deputy Head
